Enter the Dragon

The dragon is the only mythical creature amongst the 12 zodiac animal signs. It is associated with benevolence, might and grace. While Chinese New Year will be celebrated worldwide on 10 February, the wood dragon actually enters on 4 February 2024 itself. Traditionally, people like to delve into astrology at this time to understand the opportunities and challenges that come along with the new energy patterns of the new year. You need not be a silent spectator of good or bad luck but actively participate in moulding your future.

You could potentially have a dragon in your destiny/BaZi chart if you were born in the years 1952,1964,1976,1988,2000,2012,2024.

OR In the month between 5 April to 5 May,

OR Between the time of 7 am to 9 am.

For getting your detailed destiny/BaZi chart use the free link given below. Most people are only aware of the year animal zodiac they were born in. Lesser known fact is that there are actually 4 animal signs in every chart -year, month, day and hour.

If you have the dragon in your chart, you are the GRAND DUKE of the year. All eyes will be on you! Attention and leadership opportunities will come your way. The DOG animal sign is in clash with the dragon. You may experience some sudden, unexpected changes, especially in the months of April and October. Those with Rooster will have some amazing opportunities for networking and romance. Rabbit people need to be more watchful of their health. Fame could come easily for those with Horse in their chart. The travel bug seems likely to hit the TIGER . Promotion or a rise in ranks for those with SNAKE & MONKEY. Happy times and progress for the GOAT and PIG. And finally, the wealth star smiles upon those with the RAT and OX in their charts.

What about the Feng Shui for the year? With the shift in the planetary movements, we can use certain areas of our home to boost the Feng shui and fulfil our goals in 2024.

The most favourable wealth stars of the year are in the NORTH #8 and SOUTHWEST#9. You could activate either of these areas with a water body- fountain or aquarium. Keep in mind that this cannot be placed if there is a bedroom here.

The illness star resides in the SOUTHEAST #2. Pregnant mothers, chronically ill patients or the elderly should best avoid sleeping in this room.

Star #1 EAST is best suited for networking and attracting helpful people. You could reach out via email, message or simply call relevant people from this area.

The WEST #5 creates obstacles. This unruly earth energy can be suppressed by placing heavy metal objects. Those in Sales & Marketing should pitch from the SOUTH #7. This energy can be further enhanced with some yin energy of lighting a candle.

The NORTHWEST #4 is good for Romance, Academics and Travel. Boost this star with fresh flowers or bamboo.

Finally, the Career and Authority star is in the NORTHEAST #6. Place your WFH desk here.

Priya Subberwal is a qualified Classical Feng Shui practitioner. A trained interior designer, her interest in Chinese Metaphysics was sparked by a chance look through a coffee table book on the subject in 2000. After extensive reading on the subject, she formally started studying in 2007 and applied it to her daily life. Friends and family, too, gained from her knowledge and fascination.

Priya aims to bring focus and stability to the lives of others. In 2016 she formed the company 'Disha' which comes from the Sanskrit word 'Dishadhara' meaning direction - something that she strives to give her clients. Priya is a yoga enthusiast and an avid reader. A mother of two adult daughters, she lives in Hong Kong with her banker husband and a dog. Priya has also co-authored an Amazon bestseller novel, #my voice -A collective memoir by Women of Substance.
