

Know Your Guardian of Destiny

Given the current global environment, with so much out of our control, there is often a feeling of dissonance. This would be a good time to work inwards and boost our internal energy levels. Qi men dun ja (QMDJ) is one such ancient metaphysical art form, which gives us tools to delve into our inner workings. Having originated even earlier than its popular counterpart, Fengshui- it works on a more subtle level and gives us a glimpse into the shaping of our thoughts, personality and traits. Each person has their own individualized vibrational code or higher intelligence. We can connect with these intuitive forces by uncovering our Guardians of Destiny, which are found within our personal QMDJ charts. Each person has a different Guardian of Destiny according to their time and date of birth.

Plot your personal Qi min dun ja chart using the free resource link given below. All you need is your date and time of birth.
